How Opensignal measures mobile network experience

We report as accurately as possible the real-world mobile experience as recorded by mobile network users. To make decisions based on our market insights, network operators, regulators, analysts and consumers need to know the facts we present are accurate and that the comparisons we make are valid. Please visit: <https://www.opensignal.com/methodology-overview>

Local Experience is Mobile Network Experience

- Opensignal's Local Ratings quantify your expected Mobile Network Experience where you are
- Opensignal's Mobile Network Experience Local Ratings show the quality of experience offered by Mobile Network Operators in locations throughout their country of operation
- The Mobile Network Experience Local Ratings are produced on a scale of 1 star to 5 stars
- Locations with 4 and 5 Star Ratings provide the best Mobile Network Experience in the country, 3 star locations meeting the national Mobile Network Experience average and 2 and 1 star places offering a lower Mobile Network Experience
- Opensignal uses a proprietary system that considers both the global minimum service experience benchmarks, performance of countries in the peer group as well as global averages
- Local ratings apply only to the country under examination and are not comparable between operators globally

Rating Definition

- The Opensignal ratings system displays the typical mobile network experiences at a hyper-local level

Category definitions

Coverage Experience Rating - This rating reflects the proportion of the locations where users within the geography were covered by a specific technology out of all the locations visited in the geography

Download Speed Experience Rating - This rating reflects the typical Download Speed Experience of Opensignal users based on the conditions experienced within the geography.

Availability Rating - Availability shows the proportion of time all Opensignal users on an operator's network had either a 4G or 5G connection. Availability is not a measure of a network's geographic extent.

Video Experience Rating – This rating reflects the typical Video Experience of Opensignal users based on conditions within the geography.

Reliability Experience Rating - This rating measures the ability of Opensignal users to connect to and complete tasks on communication service providers' networks, such as video, over-the-top voice calls, and web browsing.

All facilities-based operators who operate in the stated geography will be rated in each category assuming that Opensignal's minimum data analytics standards are met.

Data Collection Period

The local ratings are based on independent analysis of mobile measurements recorded during the period July 1, 2024 – December 28, 2024. These results are valid during the period January 1, 2025 – June 30, 2025.

Technology Definitions

"5G" Results – 5G category ratings are based exclusively on measurements collected from 5G users with 5G plans
